

St. Mary's Seminary & University in Baltimore, MD invites applications for a position in Systematic Theology for the School of Theology/Seminary program, beginning Fall, 2023. This faculty position is responsible for graduate-level, seminary teaching in all areas of Systematic Theology, and may be responsible for teaching in other areas of theology and in philosophy, according to the institution's needs and the candidate's ability. The ideal candidate would be a Roman Catholic priest with a terminal ecclesiastical degree in the field, but lay candidates are also encouraged to apply. Rank is open and commensurate with prior achievement. St. Mary's Seminary and University offers a competitive salary and benefits package.

Application materials can be submitted here or may be emailed to Dr. Matthew Dugandzic, Ph.D., Dean of the School of Theology and Praeses of the Ecclesiastical Faculty, at MDugandzic@StMarys.edu. If emailing, include "Open Systematics Position" in the subject line. Applications will be received through January 1, 2023.