

St. Mary's Seminary & University in Baltimore, MD invites applications for a position in Moral Theology for the School of Theology/Seminary program, beginning in the Fall Semester of 2023. This faculty position is responsible for graduate-level, seminary teaching in all areas of Moral Theology – especially Catholic Social Teaching and Human Sexuality – and may be responsible for teaching in other areas of theology and in philosophy, according to the institution's needs and the candidate's ability. The ideal candidate would be a Roman Catholic priest with a terminal ecclesiastical degree in the field, but lay candidates are also encouraged to apply. Rank is open and commensurate with prior achievement. St. Mary's Seminary and University offers a competitive salary and benefits package.

To apply, please send a CV, cover letter, and the names and contact information for three references to Matthew Dugandzic, Ph.D., Dean of the School of Theology at MDugandzic@StMarys.edu. Make sure to include "Open Moral Theology Position" in the subject line. Applications will be received through March 1, 2023.
